Took Extra Precautions.

President Taft spent Thursday and Friday in Wisconsin, and the following from Marshfield indicates how the safety of the head of our nation was guarded while traveling over the country: Few people except members of President Taft's party and the railroad men concerned have known what elaborate precautions were taken against accident by the railroads in Wisconsin during his journey over their lines.

For instance, his route Wednesday night and early Thursday morning took him from St. Paul to Eau Claire, and thence by the Omaha line to Marshfield and via Northwestern to Wausau, Eland and Green Bay, all by breakfast time, and every switch along the way was spiked shut an hour before the time for the special to arrive.

Every section crew on the line was ordered to be on duty all night and track walkers were sent over every piece of track. Agents received orders not to close their offices at any time from dark until after the train had cleared their stations, and in a number of cases the agents and officials of the passenger traffic department personally flagged the junctions and railroad crossings.

In this section there are a number of old logging railroads connecting with the used lines, and these junctions were all flagged as if they were used for passenger traffic all the time.

Mail Pouches on Fire.

An alarm from the Soo passenger depot at 4:30 last Thursday morning, called the fire department to the baggage department, where several sacks of mail, three trunks and a suit case had caught on fire, evidently from one of the sacks being placed in too close proximity to a stove. Glen Chapman, the night baggeman, received the mail from passenger trains Nos. 3 and 4, and thereafter left for the freight office to look after other duties, and during his absence the damage occurred. The mail pouches contained letters and periodicals to be transferred to the G. & W. trains that day and also for the rural routes out of Stevens Point, but so far as can be learned none of the contents were badly injured, while the trunks and suit case escaped with a severe singeing only.

THE DISAPPEARING TOWN

Writer in Milwaukee's New Magazine, Business Ethics, Tells a Few Pertinent Facts.

One of the most useful as well as the handsomest publications ever issued in Wisconsin is the "Business Ethics Magazine," with Milwaukee as its place of birth and Thos. J. Sullivan and Edgar T. Wheelock as editors. Both gentlemen are well known to the newspaper fraternity, the latter especially so in northern Wisconsin, having been connected with papers at Medford and Wausau in the past and with the Milwaukee Sentinel for a number of years. The company is incorporated and its officers include several of Milwaukee's leading business men, while the contributors to its columns come from different ranks in business and profession.

The first number contains an article entitled, "The disappearing town. The proposed parcels post law would destroy the business of local dealers, thereby destroying the towns that are now the trading centers of the country. The unadvised driving citizens from small to large cities should easily be perceived." This article was written by F. E. French, of the John V. Farwell Co., is appropriately illustrated and is alone worth the price of a year's subscription, $1.50, for every business man in Portage county and elsewhere to read. Among the illustrations shown in the first number is one in colors of the public square in Stevens Point, just as it appears nearly every day in the winter season.

TRYED TO KILL AGAIN

Wm. G. French, Who Served Long Terms in Prison and Asylum After Murder, Fires at Newspaper Man.

Wm. G. French, who twenty years ago last spring, shot and killed his brother-in-law, Gavin M. Steele, at Ashland, is again in jail in that city for attempting to kill Jas. Duket, who married French's wife after he had been sent to prison. French fired four shots at Duket while the latter was at work in his shop, but none of them took effect. Both French and Steele resided in Stevens Point for a few years previous to moving to Ashland, operating a machine shop at the west end of Main street. French killed Steele in his tracks, and a sensational trial followed. Duket was one of the witnesses and French was bitter against him at that time.

French was in prison only about a year, when the supreme court sent him back to Ashland for another trial, on the ground that a separate jury to try the murder charge should have been chosen. At the original trial, Judge Parr allowed a jury to pass on the question of sanity and the same jury convicted him of murder.

In his second trial, French was convicted of murder, but got off with a sentence of 17 years rather than life imprisonment. This came after he was examined for sanity and found sane. He served some years, was sent to the insane asylum at Oshkosh, then to a county asylum and finally three years ago he was released after a jury trial as to his sanity.

He did uplift slumming work for a time in Chicago and returned to Ashland about two years ago, went to Duluth and elsewhere and again returned to Ashland a few days before the attempt to kill Duket last Wednesday. He was held for trial before the circuit on $2,000 bonds, and will very likely be again examined for his sanity.

FREE IF IT FAILS

Your Money Back if You are Not Satisfied With the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To effect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold in Stevens Point only at our store—The Rexall Store. Alex. Krems Jr. Drug Co., corner Main street and Strong's avenue.

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

DAIRY COW FEEDING.

Maintain the conditions the same throughout the year as found in the early part of the summer. These conditions are described as follows: An abundance of palatable food, balanced ration, succulent ration, moderate temperature, comfortable surroundings.

The following statements indicate in general the amounts to feed:

Feed all the roughness the cow will eat up clean at all times.

Feed one pound of grain per day for each pound of butter fat produced per week or one pound of grain daily for each three pounds of milk.

Feed all the cows will take without gaining in weight.

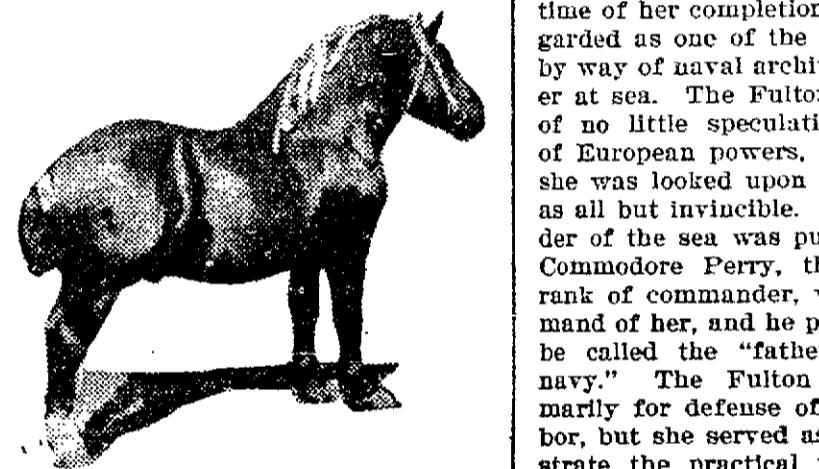

RAISING BIG HORSES.

Youngsters Need Green Feed to Keep Them Growing.

We are now upon a most trying period of the year for horses, and especially young horses, writes L. Ogilvy in the Breeder's Gazette. The succulence of the grass will soon have departed, and much of it will in a short time have passed its most nutritious stage and become tough and wiry. I do not believe that the British way of handling drafters, placing a great deal of dependence upon grass with added feed, is suited to the corn states. The continental method will probably prove much better, as it is based on a climate much more similar to our own.

The British pasture is kept fresh by the humid atmosphere and constant showers, while on the continent drought, as with us, is the prevailing condition in the summer months. While grain is desirable, it will not take the place of green feed, and an effort should be made at all times to have this on hand for the young horses.

Probably with us alfalfa is the best standby, and when quite freshly cured and hauled from the cock it is probably as good as quite green. It is a cut-and-come-again crop and can be depended upon throughout the season. Vetches are good if only it will be remembered that after they form seed

The Percheron type is that of the ideal draft horse. The legs are practically free from feather, carriage high and stylish and the action unusually free and bold. Colors are chiefly blacks and grays, with a small percentage of bays, browns, sorrels and roans. The quality is exceptionally good and the head distinct from that of any other draft breed. It is well proportioned, broad between eyes, tapering somewhat to nose and ears. The eye orbits are unusually prominent and the eyes large and clear. The illustration shows a pure bred Percheron stallion.

they are not cooling, but, like all beans, extremely heating. A little green cut oats, barley or wheat is desirable for a change, and I like either wheat or oat heads for horses at any time with the straw cut off to save waste. They must eat these slowly, and the thorough mastication causes them to be well assimilated and healthful.

Up to haying time horses will relish clean fresh cut grass very much, and the same is true of aftermath, so that between one thing and another we have a great variety of feed growing on the farm for them if only we will make use of it. Later on green corn is all about in abundance. I have never seen any but beneficial effects from its use, although I have heard objections made to it as dangerous. For that matter, I have heard everything except dry hay and oats objected to as horse feed, and I have seen as many horses die on these as on anything else. When the corn is all gone there is still the blue grass. Some of it should be saved, so that when winter comes it is in good shape for the season when we must depend on dry feed, supplemented only by flaxseed, bran, mashes and roots.

A continuous growth is what is necessary. Seasons of stagnation and setbacks all defeat the growing of a big horse. One should not make haste too fast, but keep at it with a cool but strong diet, if he wants big boned market toppers.

Hog Notes.

If the pigs are uneasy there is something wrong. Find out the cause and remove it.

In no case should the sows be allowed to run at large when fall litters are expected.

A hog seems to get more enjoyment gnawing an ear of corn than it does eating it any other way.

Clean water, salt and charcoal should be kept where the hogs can partake of them whenever they desire.

The sow chosen for breeding should be selected from the best animals in the best available herd in the farmer's neighborhood.

Juggernaut.

Juggernaut—or "lord of the world"—was supposed to be one of the incarnations of Krishna. The idol is formed of an irregular pyramidal black stone, with two large diamonds to represent eyes. The nose and mouth are painted vermilion. An immense number of pilgrims visit the idol annually, reaching up into the millions. Juggernaut worship used to be a terrible thing, but it is not what it once was. The state allowance to the temple was suspended by the Indian government in 1851, and the festivals are growing less and less popular year by year. The growing intelligence of the people and the restraining influence of the government are doing their work, and Juggernaut is steadily losing ground.—New York American.

Tea Tremens.

"I used to be a tea taster in Hankow," said a New York tea dealer. "But I got a bad attack of tea tremens and had to give up the job. Tea tremens is a recognized disease among Chinese tea tasters. These men don't swallow a drop of tea from one week's end to another. They simply hold the tea in the mouth, get an idea of its aroma and then eject it, but nevertheless the aroma of the tea causes violent nervous attacks, with sleeplessness and even hallucinations that are known all over China as tea tremens. I have never had delirium tremens, but if it's one-half as bad as the tea sort I pity the poor victim."

When a Soft Drink is Hard.

"You are arrested on a very serious charge, my good man," began the court, looking at the man severely. "You are accused of getting into a fight and hitting the complainant over the head with a bottle. What have you to say for yourself?" "Your honor, I didn't mean to hurt him. I never thought that it would hurt him very much, 'cause the bottle contained nothing but a soft drink," returned the prisoner.—Milwaukee Free Press.

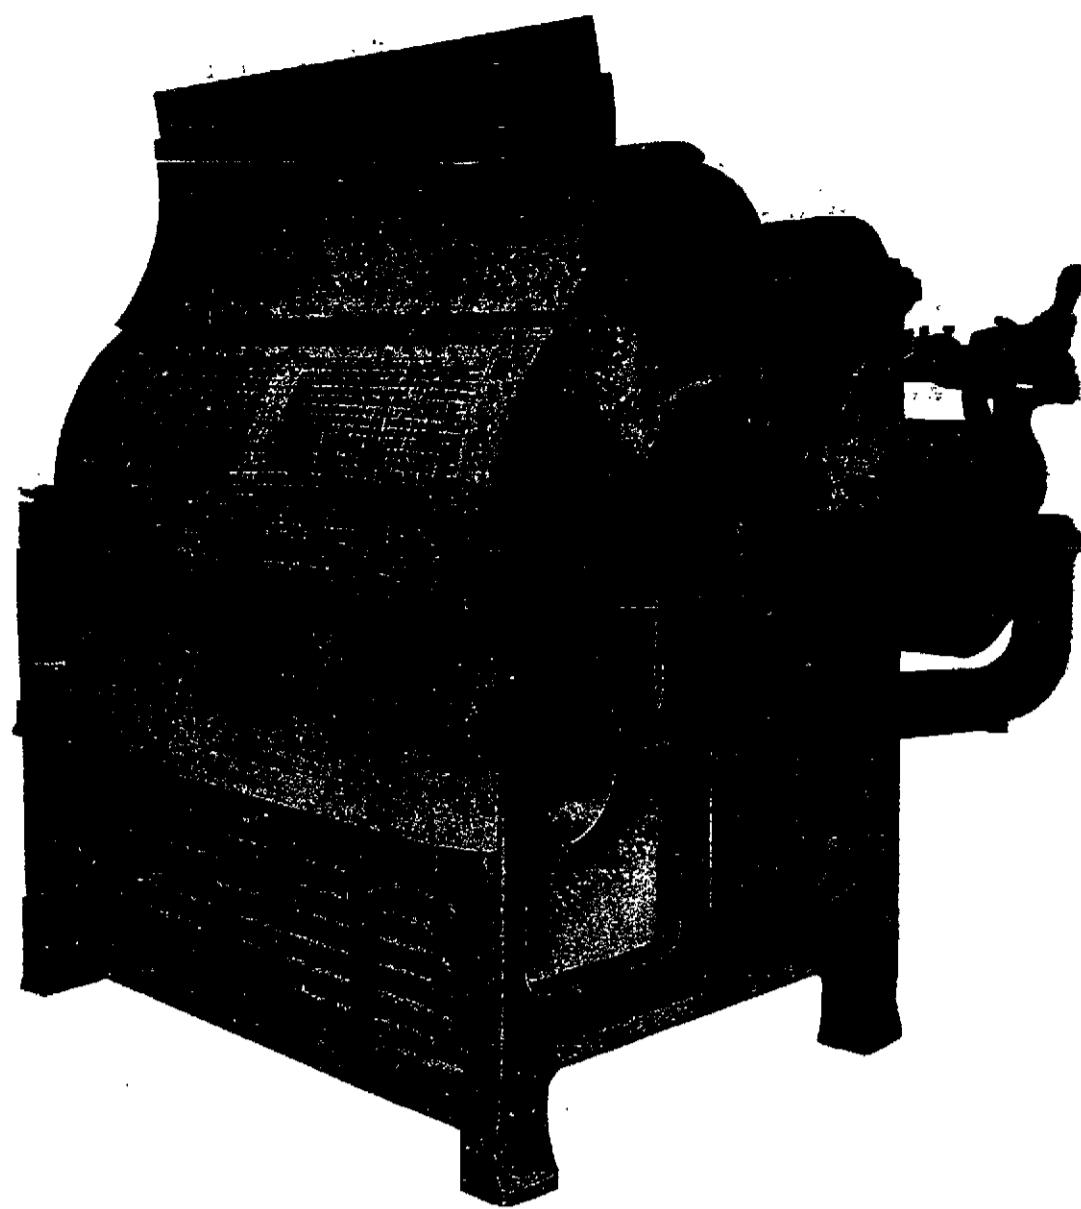

Our First Steam Warship.

The Fulton, which at the time of her construction in the early thirties was classed as a "steam battery," was the first United States warship that was propelled by steam. She was built under the superintendence of Commodore Matthew Galbraith Perry and at the time of her completion in 1837 was regarded as one of the world's wonders by way of naval architecture and power at sea. The Fulton was the cause of no little speculation on the part of European powers, for at that time she was looked upon by other nations as all but invincible. When this wonder of the sea was put in commission Commodore Perry, then holding the rank of commander, was put in command of her, and he presently came to be called the "father of the steam navy." The Fulton was built primarily for defense of New York harbor, but she served as well to demonstrate the practical utility of steam power for warships.—New York Times.

AFTER ONE YEAR'S ILLNESS

ADOLPH GREEN MARRIED

Edward P. Doyle Dies in Stockton on the Farm Where He Was Born 35 Years Ago.

Edward Patrick Doyle, son of Mrs. John Doyle, died at the family home in the town of Stockton at 5:30 o'clock last Wednesday evening, after an illness of one year with tuberculosis.

The deceased was a native of the town of Stockton and was 35 years of age Jan. 29, 1911. He spent his boyhood days on the farm, but for a number of years had been employed as a woodsman and in the mills at Rhinelander and other towns in the northern part of the state. He was taken ill, as said before, about one year ago, but did not return home until May 1st, and had constantly declined since that time. He was a young man of good character and general worth, a kind, dutiful son and a loving brother. His taking away in the prime of life is deplored by all acquaintances and friends. His father, John Doyle, died ten years ago the 7th of last month. Besides his aged mother, the now deceased son is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Wallace Mahanna of Amherst and Miss Mary Doyle, who lives at home, and five brothers, James and Michael of Rhinelander, John and Peter of Lanark and Joseph, who is on the farm. There is also an adopted brother, John, now 15 years of age.

The funeral took place from St. Mary's Catholic church at Custer at 10 o'clock Saturday forenoon, Rev. Geo. A. Schermer officiating, with interment in the parish cemetery. The pallbearers were Edward and Clarence O'Keefe, Edward and Walter Leary, Jos. Curran and Roy Felch.

YOUTH'S COMPANION CALENDAR.

The publishers of The Youth's Companion will, as always at this season, present to every subscriber whose subscription ($1.75) is paid for 1912, a beautiful calendar for the new year. The cover picture reproduces a water-color painting of a bit of New England coast, giving a glimpse of breeze swept ocean, of smiling sky, of warm, sunny rocks, which will come like a breath of salt air to those who have once lived near the sea and to those whose whole life has been passed inland. The picture being in eight colors, the tones of the original are faithfully reproduced.

FELL FROM HIS WAGON.

Jos. Tarfara of Sharon has been a patient at Mercy hospital since last Saturday afternoon, and is being treated by Dr. Walters. Tarfara works on the farm of Alex Burant, near Polonia, and was driving home with a load of feed.

When on the Jordan road near the city limits, he evidently went to sleep and fell from the wagon to the ground, where he had been for some time when found. Chief of Police Hafsoos secured a conveyance and brought the man to the hospital on Water street, where it was found that two ribs were broken and he was otherwise injured and bruised. He has no relatives in this section so far as known, and he is about 35 years of age.

The Coughs of Children

They may not cough today, but what about tomorrow? Better be prepared for it when it comes. Ask your doctor about keeping Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Then when the hard cold or cough first appears you have a doctor's medicine at hand. This cough medicine is especially good for children. No anodynes. No alcohol.

Many a child is called dull and stupid when the whole trouble is due to a lazy liver. We firmly believe your own doctor will tell you that an occasional dose of Ayer's Pills, sugar-coated, will do such children a great deal of good. Ask him.

The New Hospital.

Work upon the new hospital building had to be temporarily suspended last week by the contractors, Messrs. Abb and Playman, due to the fact that some of the brick had become so thoroughly water soaked by the recent rains that it was not deemed safe to use them until they had dried.

Work having been resumed, it is expected that the roof will be on in a few days. The association, however, has not yet secured sufficient funds to complete the structure and letters were recently addressed to a large number of people asking for contributions.

These letters are being followed up by personal visits from the committee and it is hoped all will show their liberality. Members of the committee have also been busy during the week collecting from subscribers and securing new subscriptions.

STEVENS POINT NORMAL

Personal and Other Notes Gathered by The Gazette's Special Correspondent.

Miss Alma Stenger, who was called home some time ago shortly before the death of her mother, has resumed her work at the school.

Prof. Hyer spent last Thursday visiting the grades and high school department in Waupaca, and Friday he took a short run thru the rural schools of the county. Saturday he conducted an institute in Fond du Lac county.

The Seniors entertained the Junior class of the school Saturday in the gym., the event being the annual Hallowe'en party. The room was tastily decorated for the occasion and the Juniors report having spent a very pleasant evening.

This week being the tenth week of school, examinations are being held for the first quarter. It is the one week of the quarter which the students do not thoroughly enjoy, but we are pleased to say that it will soon be over and we will be launched on the new work of the second quarter next Monday.

Prof. Hyer will spend Saturday conducting an institute in Taylor county. Mr. Hyer seems to be a very popular institute conductor. At present he has every date until February filled and has two Saturdays in February and one in March promised. He is refusing from two to four calls every week and for the particular dates of Nov. 17 and 18, which seem to be popular dates for institute work, he has refused five different calls within the past four weeks.

Miss Anna E. Menaul, the local music instructor, has given the chorus periods during the past week over to one of the best treats of the season. We have been listening to the great singers of the world and to some of the best musical selections of all times. The Victrola upon which these selections were played was very excellent machine and the music was much appreciated by both students and faculty. Here's hoping it continues for another week.

The Athenaeum-Ohiyesa society will give its first public program of the season next Friday evening, Nov. 3. It will be conducted as a regular society program and will be of a very high class. The best talent of the society will appear and it is hoped that a large audience of town people will turn out and enjoy the hours from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock. No admission will be charged. Made His Escape.

Frank Willner, a stranger who was arrested for being drunk and disorderly and set to work on the street, made his escape from the man in charge, Wm. Weinhold, on Friday. The latter stepped into fire engine house No. 1 for a moment and as he reappeared, the fellow was in the act of jumping over the rear fence. If all such prisoners would follow his example and thereafter keep beyond the borders of the municipality, no one would have cause for regret and no effort would be made to bring them back.

WAS GLORY IN DEFEAT

Merrill's Big Boys Win From Stevens Point High School Team With a Score of 24 to 0.

The Stevens Point High school football team was defeated by the Merrill Highs at Merrill last Saturday. 24 to 0, but in defeat the team is not without glory. The fame of the up-state team had been spread far and near, their attack being likened to the charge of Tennyson's immortal "Light Brigade," and their great stature winning them the cognomen of the "Giants of the North." However, the climax came when a week ago last Saturday Merrill defeated Grand Rapids 40 to 0. Then even the more optimistic of the local supporters began to wonder and speculate as to how high the score would run. Well, the two teams have met and although, as expected, the Northerners did land on top of the heap, still there is glory enough for both. The locals were outweighed all through 15 or 20 pounds to the man, but at that made their opponents go the limit and in the first quarter had they been more adept in holding onto the ball, would have scored. The locals came out of the scrap in good condition, not substitute being needed.

Their next game will be with the Grand Rapids Highs in this city a week from Saturday.

The line-up of the locals at Merrill was as follows: Pike c. Kluck; Ig. O'Keefe rg, Bannach rt, O'Malley lt, Glennon re, Cook le, Moxon rh, Cutting lh, Dobbeck fb, Charlesworth qb.

Attended Taft Banquet.

Last Sunday's Chicago Record-Herald printed a half-page picture of the banquet scene when President Taft was entertained by the Chicago Association of Commerce, the evening before. Immediately in the foreground is a strikingly good likeness of a former Stevens Pointer, Henry L. Green, president of the Old White School Association, and who has long been numbered among Chicago's "captains of industry."

An Unusual Offer.

The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin is making an unusual offer of a 1,200 page Webster's New Standard Dictionary, printed on fine Bible paper and bound in full limp leather, for the remarkable low price of $1.20 delivered anywhere in the state. It is a plan to demonstrate the "pulling power" of its advertising columns. Over 4,000 copies of this remarkable book have been disposed of in the past two weeks. The offer is open to anyone, whether a reader of The Wisconsin or not, by simply cutting out a Dictionary Coupon, which is printed each day in The Wisconsin. The dictionary has the strongest kind of endorsement from Supt. Pearse, President of the National Educational Association, and from principals of schools, judges, business men, etc. The pupils of one Milwaukee school purchased two hundred of these dictionaries. It is a clever plan on the part of The Evening Wisconsin and is demonstrating the advertising value of the paper in a way that cannot be disputed.

Know a Good Thing.

Last week's issue of The Gazette contained a short article giving the facts about an action for "slander of title" won by W. E. Fisher for his client over in Barron county. At least two of our exchanges copied the article in full and credited it to our Republican neighbor up the street. That was bad enough, but not nearly so bad as was the copying of Judge O'Neill's ruling in the Konopacki case by another exchange, which gave no credit whatever, publishing it as an original item.

Most all editors know a good item when they see it, but evidently some appreciate it more than others and are willing to take it as their own.

High School Notes.

Frances Fallon, '11, was a visitor yesterday afternoon.

The Senior English classes have finished the study of "Macbeth."

The Seniors are studying civics in connection with their study of U. S. history.

The Sophomore English classes have finished "The Merchant of Venice" and are now taking up the study of "The Lay of Ancient Rome," by MacCauley.

Col. Thomas Varland Richeson of Amherst, Va., visited in the Boston jail his son, Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, who is accused of the murder of Avis Linnell, his one-time fiance. It was their first meeting in seven years. In the first words of greeting the clergyman exclaimed: "Father, I am innocent."

Fusion of progressive Republicans and Democrats was delicately proposed by Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey in an address at a luncheon at Madison Wis., attended by 1,000 state Democrats and many La Follette Republicans.

Something of a sensation in connection with the Rosebud land lottery developed when it was disclosed that 41 sections of the Rosebud tract in South Dakota have been claimed by the state for Indian school lands. The sections, including the best in this tract, will be selected by the state before the settlers have a chance to file.

By large majorities two Ohio counties shifted from the "dry" column as result of elections held in Scioto and Lawrence counties, including the cities of Portsmouth and Ironton.

After a protracted conference of officials of the United States Steel corporation in New York, a statement was given out by Chairman Elbert H. Gary in which denial was made of the truth of the government's charges in its dissolution suit. The conference followed an excited session of the stock exchange, in which the securities of the corporation severely declined.

The federal government filed suit at Trenton, N. J., against United States Steel corporation to compel its dissolution to an illegal combine. It is the most sweeping anti-trust action ever brought by the department of justice. The petition was prepared by Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war, who had been retained by the government as its special counsel in this case.

The federal department of justice started an investigation at Indianapolis, of the so-called McNamara dynamiting cases. A subpoena has been served upon Frank P. Baker, county prosecutor, to appear before the federal grand jury, and to bring with him all evidence seized in a raid on the offices here of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers at the time of the arrest of John J. McNamara.

Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic National Committeeman from Illinois, took the witness chair before the Lorimer committee at Chicago, and denied that any "contract" existed between Lorimer Republicans and the state Democratic organization, although he "thought" Senator Lorimer's friends aided the Democratic candidate for governor in 1908.

Improvement of wharves and terminal facilities was the chief topic for discussion in the convention of the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association, which opened in Alton, Ill.

By a vote of 65 to 59 the state administration's $20,000,000 water power and conservation bill was defeated in the Illinois house of representatives. Seventy-seven votes were necessary to pass the measure. Forty-two Republicans and 17 Democrats voted for the bill. Twenty-seven Republicans and 38 Democrats voted against it.

The Philadelphia Athletics are champions of the world for the second successive year. In an exhibition of batting seldom seen in a premier baseball series, the American league team defeated New York in the sixth game of the set by the overwhelming score of 13 to 2, thus giving them the four necessary games out of the six played to carry off baseball's greatest honor.

Harry H. Davis, first baseman of the world's champion Athletics and Lieutenant of Connie Mack, their manager, has signed a contract to manage the Cleveland team of the American league in 1912.

TRIPOLI--A VICTIM OF OPPRESSION ~

A TYPICAL TRIPOLITAN COAST DEFENSE PORT

OVER a section of northern Africa, where the legions of imperial Rome once held sway and where various races and civilizations have contended for supremacy, Italy, the modern successor to the Rome of the Caesars, is seeking to establish her sovereignty.

Only yesterday, as history measures the life of nations, Italy sprang into nationhood and now, this puny successor to the world-conquering Rome of the consuls and the Caesars is reaching out for parts of that territory over which imperial Rome exercised her authority from the Red sea to the Pillars of Hercules.

But of all that vast region there is little now that is not pre-empted. Egypt is securely anchored to British authority—securely at least for the present generation. Far to the west lies Morocco, where French dominance is assured. East of it lies Algeria, and further east, Tunis, both as securely French as Egypt is British. And then lying in between Tunis and Egypt and extending southerward into the sands of the desert lies Tripoli, with its dependencies of Barca and Fezzan, the particular region which modern Italy covets and over which the Turkish crescent floats in impotent protection.

When Carthage Was Supreme.

Tripoli formed a portion of the ancient empire of Carthage, which had its beginning, according to legend, in the city founded by Queen Dido, near the modern city of Tunis. The Carthaginians, like the Romans, were empire builders and gradually came into possession of the rich cities and colonies founded by the adventurous Phoenicians on the African coast, ultimately controlling the whole territory extending from the Pillars of Hercules to the Great Syrtis—a distance of 2,000 miles. At the height of her power Carthage was the greatest maritime nation in the world, as then constituted, and her enterprises on the sea led her on almost inevitably to engage in foreign conquests.

In her colonization schemes in Sicily she first came into contact with Roman power and the first Punic war, in which the Carthaginians suffered defeat, was the result. This war began in 264 and ended in 241 B. C. and Carthage was compelled to cede Sicily and Sardinia to the Romans. The second Punic war, provoked by Carthaginian conquests in Spain, broke out in 218, when the great Hannibal led his soldiers across the Alps and by vigorous campaigns and several bloody battles brought Rome almost to the brink of ruin. But Rome triumphed in the end, breaking the power of Carthage in Spain and defeating Hannibal in the decisive battle of Zama, in Africa. The third Punic war, begun in 150 B. C. by Rome, ended in the destruction of Carthage and the Roman absorption of the rich African territories, including Tripoli, which for centuries had been under Carthaginian sway.

Northern Africa remained in Roman, or Byzantine, possession until the fierce invasions of the Vandals early in the fifth century of the Christian era. These savage warriors had swept a short time before across the Pyrenees into Spain and had established an independent kingdom—Vandalia, the modern Andalusia. The borders which crossed with their great general, Genseric, into Africa, soon overran the country and occupied it until 533, when their power when their resources run low they become robbers, making raids into the lowlands and carrying off the property of others.

Uncle Sam and Tripoli.

In its past history the United States has been at war with Tripoli and others of the Barbary states; and some of the most brilliant achievements of the American navy were performed in the waters that lave the northern coast of Africa.

What may be the future of Tripoli rests securely among those unsolved problems to which history holds the key. Italy, into whose possession it is destined to fall, has had little experience as a colonizer. Her attempt in Abyssinia was disastrous and ended in the tragedy at Adowa in 1896, when her army suffered defeat by the followers of Menelik. But in Tripoli she will find a better and a clearer field, within a short sail from her own outpost islands in the Mediterranean. The country is capable of great development. The native races, if handled as carefully and as justly as France deals with the peoples of Algeria and Tunis, will prove tractable; and with the fruits of their labors assured to them will become industrious and provident. It may be that Tripoli may become as it was in the days of Rome's supremacy—a fruitful granary and a region where Italian colonists may by their well-known thrift and industry, build up an African Italy. If so, Italy and Tripoli as well as civilization itself will be the gainers.

CANADA HAS 5,000 HINDUS

Parliament of Religions in Chicago at World's Fair Time Started the Immigration.

The present Hindu population of Canada numbers about 5,000, all men, for no women are allowed to accompany them to Canada or to follow them after they have arrived and settled.

These are resident entirely in British Columbia and chiefly in the cities of Vancouver and Victoria and on the farms in the neighborhood, where they are industriously employed in the many forms of manual labor, for which they appear to have both special adaptation and desire.

I am indebted to Dr. Sunder Singh, the accredited agent for these people in Canada, for the statement as to how the eyes of the Hindus were first turned toward America and Canada and the first beginnings of modern emigration from India were inspired. He says that the visit of Hindu religious reformers to the great parliament of religions which was held in Chicago in connection with the world's fair first aroused these people to an appreciation of the advantages of occidental civilization and democratic institutions.

The educational work carried on by American missionaries in the high schools of India also prepared the way for a sowing of good seed in a ready soil, the fruitage of which turned the eyes of educated Hindus toward this new world. Economic conditions in India furthered a movement of emigrants to Canada in 1905, when and continuing until 1907 not a few came to this country.—Victoria Daily Times.

Democracy in France.

An interesting story of the practice of democracy comes to us from a little village named Maule, in the department of Seine-et-Oise, between Mantes and Versailles, France. The following notice is painted up in different places in the village: "M. Duchesne begs to inform huntsmen that he reserves all rights of hunting in his property in the commune of Maule. The following alone are authorized to hunt: (1) Workmen (every citizen in the employment of a 'patron' is considered as a workman). (2) Every father of a family with five children living. M. Duchesne is the democratic landlord, and the hunting here referred to is the shooting of anything in the way of game which the huntsman may chance to meet, with the right to sell all that falls to his gun.

A Modern Bookshop Now.

At Chiswick is a little, old-fashioned bookshop which has lately changed proprietorship and is being "modernized," one-half now given up to stationery and the old books being "cleared," no reasonable offer refused. The writer thought it a likely place to pick up a good edition of Pepys's Diary, and asked the dapper little proprietor if he had one. "No, sir; but we have Letts's. Oh, I can assure you they are vastly superior to the old-fashioned sort—" And as the writer fled he heard shouts of "Insurance coupon" and "Wages table" hurled after him.—London Chronicle.

Why She's a Suffragette.

"Dora's joined the suffragette movement."

"It's her belief that women ought to vote? eh?"

"Oh, I don't know that she's formed any opinion about that. But the suffragettes in our neighborhood have been giving such lovely teas. And Dora wanted to get in on them."

RED HATS FOR 17

POPE TO NAME THREE AMERICANS AS CARDINALS ON NOVEMBER 27.

TWENTY-TWO SEATS VACANT

Archbishops Farley of New York, O'Connell of Boston and Falcone of Washington Are Among Those to Be Elevated.

Rome.—On November, 27 when the consistory is held in the Vatican here Pope Pius will create seventeen new cardinals, and in this number will be Most Rev. John M. Farley, archbishop of New York; Most Rev. W. H. O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, and Mgr. Diomedes Falcone, apostolic delegate in the United States at Washington.

The last consistory was held in December, 1907, four cardinals being appointed at that time. Since then many vacancies have occurred in the sacred college by death, and now there are twenty-two seats of the seventy unfilled.

Since 1907 the intention to hold a consistory has been announced from time to time, and on each occasion the convocation has been postponed for various causes.

The question of the appointment of another American cardinal has been under discussion a number of times. Archbishop Farley, Archbishop O'Connell and Archbishop Quigley of Chicago being mentioned. But on one occasion it was said the pope adhered to his opinion that the United States should not have more than one cardinal during the life of Cardinal Gibbons.

The proposed consistory in November will be the fifth held by Pope Pius X. On the death of Pope Leo XIII, there were sixty-four cardinals. During the last eight years Pius X. has created seventeen new cardinals, of whom two have died.

DEFEAT FOR CHINA REBELS

Imperialists Retake Hankow, Slay 3,000 of Enemy and Put Them to Rout.

Peking.—The imperialists have been victorious at Hankow in the greatest battle of the revolution. The rebels fled in utter disorder to Hanyang and Wu Chang, leaving more than 3,000 dead.

The imperialists are now advancing on Wu Chang, where it is their intention to execute a land attack while the Yangtze fleet, under Admiral Sato, bombs the city, as was done at Hankow.

The fighting began early in the morning. Encouraged by their success in retaking the railroad terminal at Hankow the imperial leaders decided upon a concentrated assault and within a remarkably short time after the orders were given practically all the loyalist forces fell upon the rebel positions.

Rebel reinforcements in districts nearby started for the scene, but were enfiladed by the guns of Admiral Sato's squadron. Up to this time the rebels seemed to have had a fair chance of victory. The shots from the warships undoubtedly turned the tide in favor of the loyalists.

The rebel leaders, realizing that further resistance only meant increased slaughter, ordered a retreat. They fled toward the only avenue of escape, Hanyang and Wu Chang. Hundreds of rebels were killed in retreat by the loyalist infantry.

JOSEPH PULITZER IS DEAD

Owner of New York World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch Succumbs to Heart Failure.

New York.—Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and for many years one of the most powerful journalistic forces in America, died suddenly aboard his yacht, "The Liberty," off Charleston, S. C.

Heart failure, following an illness of 48 hours, is given as the cause of death. Mrs. Pulitzer and her youngest son, Herbert, were with Mr. Pulitzer when he died.

For the past twenty years Mr. Pulitzer has suffered an affection of his eyes which robbed him almost entirely of his sight. He spent all of last winter and part of the spring abroad, returning to New York early in the summer, from this city going to Bar Harbor.

Mr. Pulitzer's general health, which had become very bad, did not improve in Maine. Neither did it mend when at the end of the season he returned home to this city. It was decided a short time ago that the climate here was not propitious, and the Liberty, bearing her owner, put out to sea.

TOASTS FOR ALL OCCASIONS.

Here's to the joy of lazy days,
Sun-kissed and sweet with clover.
Visions of youth—and roundelay
The goodness of life all over
Go breathe it in the air.

Here's to the heart that's always true,
To eyes of black or eyes of blue,
To friendship old or friendship new—
To the one it loves, be it me or you.

Life as we've found it,
And frolicked around it,
Life with its many-hued bliss.
Griefs—they're soon over,
Love, blessed lover,
Turns them to joys with a kiss!

And say to them "Be of good cheer."

A Musical Contest.
Perhaps this will answer the correspondent who requested a game suitable for a musical club. I found it in a magazine and gladly pass it on:

six tart apples, stew in a cup of wa-

whites of the eggs mixed with one of the charlotte mold and top with whipped cream.

MADAME MERRI

IN VOGUE

The Greek line is the dominant coiffure idea.

Heavy as well as light laces are fashionable.

Suit coats are finger tip length or shorter.

The use of antique fringes is a new phase of fringe fashions.

Complexion veils of white or tinted maline, with or without chenille dots,
are worn.

The deep collar, either square or pointed, is still worn. It in many cases reaches to the waist line at the back.

The full explanation of the continuance of the narrow skirt is that, with the continuation of the oriental idea and the development of design taken from the dress of the Moslem countries, it must remain.

White Crochet Buttons.

Small and large buttons made of white cotton thread coarsely crocheted are now in first fashion. They are placed on blouses, on one-piece frocks, on top wraps, in every size. They are used on blouses instead of pearl buttons, and on white linen skirts.

Apple and Nut Charlotte.

Make this in a large dish or in in-

of either hickory or walnut meats;
dry for a day, then pound or break very fine. Beat the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth, add a pound of pulverized sugar, stir in the nuts
and two tablespoons of orange flower water. Beat until well mixed, then drop in strips on buttered paper and bake in a slow oven. After this paste is set but still soft, stick nut meats along the top of strips. When

STEEL TRUST SUED

DISSOLUTION OF COMBINE PRAY-ED FOR IN PETITION FILED
BY GOVERNMENT.

ACTION IS FAR-REACHING

Morgan, Rockefeller, Carnegie, Perkins and Gary Are Among Individuals Made Defendants—Hills Also
Are Involved—36 Subsidiaries Named.

Washington, Oct. 27.—A petition asking for the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation and some of its subsidiary companies was filed in the United States court in Trenton, N. J.

The petition was prepared by Jacob
M. Dickinson, former secretary of war, who had been retained by the government as its special counsel in this case.

Some of the Defendants.

Following are some of those named in the petition: The United States Steel corporation, Carnegie Steel company, Federal Steel company, American Steel and Wire company of New Jersey, the American Tin Plate company, Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, J. P. Morgan, Charles Steele, George W. Perkins, E. H.
Gary, Charles M. Schwab, Andrew Carnegie, Henry C. Frick, James Gay-
ley, William H. Moore, J. H. Moore, Edmund C. Converse, Percival Roberts, Jr., Daniel G. Reid, Norman B.
Ream, John D. Rockefeller, John D.
Rockefeller, Jr., P. A. B. Widener, William P. Palmer, and about forty subsidiary corporations.

Asks Dissolution of All.

The government asks that the corporation be adjudged unlawful; that each and all of the defendants, their officials, directors, stockholders or agents be perpetually enjoined from doing any act for carrying out the plans of the monopoly.

It asks that the United States Steel corporation of itself as well as each
and all of the elements composing it, whether separate or individual, be decreed illegal and that the corporation be dissolved. It also asks that the ore lease between the Great Northern railway and the Great Western Mining company be declared illegal.

Louis W. Hill Defendant.

Louis W. Hill of the Great Northern railway, one of the trustees in some of the mining companies, which are included in the bill, also is named as a defendant.

An order signed by Judge Lanning of Trenton was also filed authorizing the issuance of subpoenas for many prominent men in the financial world.
Among those who will be subpoenaed to testify in the suit are Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation, John D. Rockefeller, J. P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., John E.
Parsons and Charles M. Schwab.

Roosevelt Fooled by Visit.

One of the most sensational allegations of the government's bill is that Theodore Roosevelt, when president, was an unwitting tool of a combination of financiers, and that his agreement not to interfere with the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the steel corporation was won by misrepresentations on the part of Henry C. Frick and E. H. Gary on the occasion of their memorable visit to the White house in 1907.

The bill is scathingly direct in its denunciation of this transaction, setting forth that in telling President Roosevelt "that little benefit will come to the steel corporation from the purchase," Mr. Frick and Mr. Gary were sailing under false pretenses.

"The president," the complaint says,
"was not made fully acquainted with the state of affairs in New York relevant to the transaction as they existed."

Not Fully Advised of Truth.

If Mr. Roosevelt had been fully advised, he would have known that a desire to stop the panic was not the sole moving cause, but that there was also a desire and purpose to acquire the control of a company that had recently assumed a position of potential competition of great significance.

It is certain that the corporation availed itself of the embarrassment of Moore & Schley (New York brokers who had large holdings of Tennessee stock) at a most critical period of the hammering of the Tennessee stock and the threatening of a general financial calamity, to acquire the control of a competitor, taking on a formidable aspect.

The corporation thus greatly strengthened its control of the country's iron ore supply, its predominating position in the south's iron and steel trade, eliminated a competitor and unlawfully acquired a power which is a menace to the welfare of the country and should be destroyed."

Before making its charge against the alleged hoodwinking of President Roosevelt, the bill reviews in great detail the conditions in the steel trade before the consolidation of 1891-1900.

Headline Writer a Cut-Up.

"Many Heads Injured by Court Plaster" was a headline notice in an exchange. "Ah! Graft! Poison!" we exclaimed, just like that. But reading further we learned that the ceiling of a judicial chamber had fallen while a trial was in session. Whereat
we bubbled with laughter.

CANADA'S IMMENSE WHEAT FIELDS

THE ATTRACTION FOR THREE TRANSCONTINENTAL RAIL-WAYS.

Last August there visited the Canadian west the vice-president of the largest individual hardware company in the United States. As his firm have a turnover of millions, and deals extensively with farm implements, this man took a deep interest in crop conditions in Canada, and on his return
he embodied his findings in an article for the Hardware Reporter. This article should be of special interest to farmers.

The writer speaks of the importance of the spring wheat crop of Western Canada. He might also have spoken of the importance of the oat crop and also of the winter wheat crop, as well as barley. Winter wheat during the past few years has been a great success, and experiments have shown that it can be grown with success in almost any portion of the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. But apart from this, the spring wheat crop is the one generally grown, and all who know anything of grain, anyone who has had anything to do with markets, knows or has heard of the high character of this cereal and the splendid yields that are annually produced. Reproducing from this article:

"In a land of such great sweep, and
of such difference in soil and climate,
there are many resources, but none
are at present of the same overwhelming importance as the spring wheat crop. In the interminable prairie stretches of the northwest provinces
it is the one absorbing topic of interest and of conversation during its growing and its harvesting, for upon its success or failure hangs the weal
or woe of a large part of the Dominion.
Its influence extends far down into the United States, drawing thousands of farmers northwards with the lure of cheap lands, but likewise beyond the great lakes, even to the easy going maritime provinces, calling the flower of their young men to its opportunities. Development in these prairie provinces goes on at high pressure for everything hangs on the outcome of spring wheat. Success has emboldened the raisers of this one all-important crop, and each year there is further incursion into those northern fields that only a short time ago were regarded as Arctic wastes. The Canadian Northwest seems to be one of those modern agricultural examples set forth to drive the final nail in the coffin of that ancient Malthusian delusion that population tends to outrun
the means of subsistence, since the only fear now among Canadian economists is as to the danger of over-stocking the wheat market. Only about two and one-half per cent of possible arable lands in the northwest provinces is now under cultivation, and this year the crop promises to be close to 200,000,000 bushels, so that your imagination and your arithmetic can easily supply the answer as to the possible or even probable outcome."

During the months of July and August the weather was unfavourable and the production of a 200 million yield of wheat will not likely be realized, but even with this, the threshing reports coming to hand show that the crop will be a splendidly paying one.

Literary Criticism.

They were discussing a certain authoress at dinner, and a well-known critic raised a laugh by remarking.
"Well, her hair's red, even if her books are not."

The mild young man in the corner made a mental note of the sally for future use, and at another party shortly afterward he carefully guided the conversation into literary channels. Tit-bits informs its readers. Fortunately,
some one mentioned the desired name,
and he triumphantly cried out: "Well,
she's got red hair, even if her books haven't!"

Risky Business.

Mrs. Crawford—I'll be glad when this false-hair fad goes out.

Mrs. Crabshaw—So will I, dear. I'm wearing so many different kinds that when I find a strange hair on my bus-band's coat I really haven't the nerve to accuse him.

Up to Date.

"I notice that young Doctor Curem uses autophysiopsis in his practice."

"Of course he does. Didn't you know he specializes in motor nerves?"
